Queensland Building and Construction Commission (QBCC) Governance Review Update

Purpose

To inform industry that they can contribute to the QBCC Governance Review through an online survey or by uploading a submission.

Background

The Department of Energy and Public Works (the department) has commissioned Mr Jim Varghese AM, a well-respected professional and Chancellor of Torrens University, to lead an independent review into the QBCC's governance arrangements.

The review will examine the roles and responsibilities of the QBCC and Queensland Building and Construction (QBC) Board, along with the policies, procedures, and practices to ensure the QBCC's governance arrangements reflect best practice for a regulator of this kind.

The review also builds on the work already undertaken by the QBCC to improve procedures and systems as it transitions into being an insights-driven regulator and review its dispute resolution and decision-making processes.

How to get involved

A stakeholder survey and ability to upload a submission is now available on the department's Engagement HQ website at Survey | QBCC governance review | Have your say about Queensland Government programs and initiatives \(engagementhq.com\).

The survey and submission portal are open until 9 March 2022.

If you would like to stay updated about the review please register your details here: Link to register
